REAR ADMIRAL LOUISE C. WILMOT, USN COMMANDER NAVAL TRAINING CENTER

Rear Admiral Louise C. Wilmot graduated from the College of Saint Elizabeth, Convent Station, New Jersey, in June 1964 with a Bachelor of Arts degree in History. She received her commission as an ensign in the United States Navy from Officer Candidate School in Newport, Rhode Island, in August 1964. Her first duty station was Naval Air Station, Pensacola, Florida, where she was a Communication Watch Officer, Registered Publication's Custodian, and the Women's Barracks Officer. She reported to the NATO Staff of Allied Forces, Southern Europe, Naples, Italy, in 1966 where she served in communications and training for two years.

Her next assignment was as an officer recruiter on the staff of Recruiting Area Seven in Dallas, Texas. Rear Admiral Wilmot recruited in New Mexico, Oklahoma, and northern Texas. Following her recruiting assignment, she went to Washington, D.C., as a Naval Senate Liaison Officer in the Office of Legislative Affairs. After three years at the U.S. Senate, Rear Admiral Wilmot was transferred to the Bureau of Naval Personnel to become the Head of the Women's Equal Opportunity Branch where she served from 1975-1976.

Rear Admiral Wilmot graduated from the Naval War College, Newport, Rhode Island, in July 1977. She received her Master of Arts degree in Legislative Affairs from George Washington University in 1978.

She served as the Executive Officer, Navy Recruiting District, Montgomery, Alabama, from August 1977 until 1979. After her promotion to Commander, she assumed command of the Navy Recruiting District, Omaha, Nebraska, where she served from October 1979 until July 1982. Rear Admiral Wilmot's next tour of duty was in the office of the Assistant Secretary of Defense for Manpower, Installations, and Logistics, in Washington, D.C., as the Deputy Director for Accession Policy.

In August 1985, Rear Admiral Wilmot became Commander, Navy Recruiting Area Five, Great Lakes Illinois, where she served for two years. After that assignment, Rear Admiral Wilmot assumed the duties as Executive Assistant and Naval Aide to the Assistant Secretary of the Navy for Manpower and Reserve Affairs, Washington, D.C.

Rear Admiral Wilmot's decorations include the Defense Superior Service Medal, the Legion of Merit (with gold star) Medal, Meritorious Service Medal, the Joint Service Commendation Medal, the Meritorious Unit Commendation (with bronze star) Medal, and the National Defense Medal. She assumed the position of Commander, Naval Training Center, Orlando on 1 May 1989 and was promoted to her present rank of Rear Admiral on 20 April 1990.

Rear Admiral Wilmot was born in Wayne, New Jersey, on December 31, 1942. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Currie. She is the wife of Mr. James E. Wilmot of Seymour, Connecticut.

Rear Admiral Oden and his wife Sue, have two children, Jon, a 1991 graduate of the College of William and Mary, and Heather, a senior at Virginia Commonwealth University.

CAPTAIN KATHLEEN MAE BRUYERE, USN COMMANDING OFFICER RECRUIT TRAINING COMMAND

Captain Kathleen Mae Bruyere, born in Newport News, Virginia, is a 25 year veteran of the US Navy. She is one of the 36 female Unrestricted Line Officers on active duty in the grade of Captain. Captain Bruyere, an advocate for women - civilian and military, was one of six women who filed and won a court action in 1978 that resulted in Title 10 USC 6015 being declared unconstitutional. This section of the US Code had prohibited Navy women from serving aboard ships at sea.

She began her naval career in June 1966 upon graduation from Chestnut Hill College, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania where she received a Bachelor of Arts degree in Political Science. Her first tour of duty was as a Communications Watch Officer at the Naval Communications Station, San Francisco, California followed by a tour as Administrative Officer at the Navy Space Systems Activity in Los Angeles, California. She was the first female officer ever to serve at this command.

Later, Captain Bruyere served as an Officer Recruiter at Navy Recruiting District, Los Angeles, California and with the Bureau of Naval Personnel (BUPERS) in Washington, DC in the Officer Distribution Division. After serving at BUPERS, Captain Bruyere became an Aide/Flag Secretary to the Commander, Training Command, US Pacific Fleet, San Diego, California. This assignment was another first for women.

After graduation from the College of Naval Command and Staff, Naval War College, Newport, Rhode Island, Captain Bruyere completed a tour as Executive Officer, Navy Recruiting District, New York. This assignment was a first for female officers, also. Soon afterward, she was assigned to the Office of the Chief of Naval Operations in Washington, DC where she served as the first Community Manager for approximately 3,000 active duty line officers in the Navy.

From September 1983 until July 1985, Captain Bruyere was Commanding Officer of the Personnel Support Activity, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. As Commanding Officer, she managed a staff of twenty-six along with six detachments of 300 military and civilian employees located throughout Pennsylvania, New York and New Jersey. From August 1985 until September 1986, Captain Bruyere served as Executive Officer, Naval Reserve Officers' Training Corps Unit, University of Pennsylvania in Philadelphia. In October 1986, Captain Bruyere reported as Commanding Officer of Personnel Support Activity, Pearl Harbor, Hawaii. This command included four detachments in Hawaii and one in Australia with 400 military and civilian employees.

On March 1, 1988, Captain Bruyere once again reported to the Office of the Chief of Naval Operations where she served as Special Assistant for Women's Policy to the Deputy Chief of Naval Operations (Manpower, Personnel and Training) until her assignment as Commanding Officer, Recruit Training Command, Orlando, Florida.

Her decorations and awards include: the Legion of Merit; the Meritorious Service Medal; the Navy Commendation Medal with two gold stars; the Meritorious Unit Commendation; the National Defense Medal; the Recruiting Service Ribbon; Who's Who of American Women; and selection by TIME magazine, January 1976, as one of the twelve "Women of the Year".

Captain Bruyere holds membership in the US Naval Institute (first woman elected in 110 years as a Director, Board of Control, 1983-86), the National Organization for Women, the National Women's Political Caucus, the National Association of Female Executives, the Women Officers' Professional Association (a founder and charter member), Women in Defense, National Naval Officers Association, the Naval Reserve Association and the Board of Directors, Girl Scout Council of the Nation's Capital, Washington, DC (1989-91).

Captain Bruyere is the daughter of Lieutenant Colonel Joseph P. Donahue, United States Army Reserve (RET) and Lucille Alessandrini Donahue, both formerly of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. She is married to Captain Thomas E. Bruyere, USN (RET).
